"BIG MAN FOR MANAGER"

EXPERTS HALT ON NAVY PROGRAM

Conference Committee Holds Short Session and Adjourns

DISCUSSION HELD SECRETLY

Final Answer to Japanese Demands Undecided

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — Details of the American plan for limitation of naval armament were discussed today at a brief meeting of the sub-committee of naval experts of Great Britain, the United States and Japan. The session was adjourned shortly after 11 o'clock and it then was said there would be no other meeting of the sub-committee today, and that it had not been determined whether discussions would be resumed tomorrow.

There also was no indication that the full committee of naval experts, including the officers of the French and Italian navies, had been called. It is generally expected that when the experts of the three powers reach a point where they cannot proceed further until the conference has decided the fundamental question of fleet ratio as between the United States and Japan, that the full naval expert committee will be assembled and will then make its report to the naval committee of the conference.

BRITISH OPTIMISTIC
In American circles there had appeared to be a feeling that today might bring the discussion of the naval ratio question to a head so far as the experts were concerned. There was no indication that such a stage had been reached, however, when the sub-committee adjourned.

Optimism was apparent among members of the British delegation, a spokesman for which prior to the adjournment of the sub-committee of experts, asserted that he believed some announcement along the line of naval armament might be expected next week, probably before the conference in plenary session Wednesday or Thursday.

Assistant Secretary Roosevelt, Admiral Coady and Rear Admiral Pratt attended the sub-committee meeting for the United States, while Vice Admiral Kato with his aides were present for Japan and Rear Admiral Chatfield for the British. Mr. Roosevelt and the American officers returned to the navy department after the sub-committee meeting and it was assumed that the fact that Mr. Roosevelt did not seek a conference with Secretary Hughes that no important development had come from today's meeting.

FRANCE DESIRES OPPOSED
Reports were circulating today in authoritative naval circles of the conference that the desire of France to have a navy equal to that of Japan would be opposed by the British whose naval experts argued that if both France and Italy have a fleet equal to that of Japan, the combined fleets would surpass that of England.

It is the English, French and Italian navies were in the proportion of 5-3-2, the union of Franco-Italian fleets would have the complete control of the Mediterranean which the British hold is indispensable to maintain the highway to India and East Africa. The British are understood to hold that as neither before nor during or after the war the French and Italian fleets put together surpassed the English one, this should be kept in consideration in establishing the ratio of the French and Italian fleets, which should be less than the five ratio assigned to Great Britain.

The complaint in French naval circles is that as both Italy and France are friends of Great Britain there is no more reason to fear a combination of the two against her than there is to fear that Japan and the United States would unite against her.

The French point out that the theory of the British naval experts that Britain must have a fleet equal to that of any two powers is of doubtful value. If such a theory, the French assert, doesn't apply to the Pacific, why should it apply to the Mediterranean?

The French thesis also is that neither Italy or France are likely to build up to the 300,000 ton maximum involved in a three ratio as compared to Britain's five. It makes no practical difference to Great Britain what ratio is fixed. It has been indicated in French quarters that France will not object to Italy's having a navy as large as the British.

TROOP WITHDRAWAL
The Far Eastern committee of the conference resumed today its discussion of China's request for withdrawal of foreign troops from her soil, general adherence in principle to this course having been given yesterday in conformity with the principle of the Root resolution.

An announcement to newspaper men, following yesterday's session, by Prince Tokugawa that Japan, regarded as chiefly concerned in the question, "intends to abolish" the system under which her troops are in China, "as soon as possible," was taken to mean such withdrawal was contingent on the working out of a satisfactory program by the conference regarding the general problem of China.

DEADLY GERMS USED TO KILL

MADAME JEANNE GIRARD, SENTENCED TO LIFE IMPRISONMENT FOR INSURANCE MURDERS

INSURANCE FRAUD

Friends Killed by French Scientist to Collect Money

(BY MILTON BRONNER)

PARIS — (Special) — Madame Jeanne Girard—life imprisonment.

Mademoiselle Josephine Dousteau—20 years' imprisonment.
Behind these sentences, just pronounced, lies the most dramatic story of love, crime and intrigue told this year in the French courts.

"Gentleman" Girard, as he was known, was a student of chemistry and disease germs. His friends thought it was just a scientific hobby of his.

Suddenly Paris police arrested him, his wife Jeanne and his friend, Mademoiselle Dousteau.
According to the police Girard cultivated acquaintances, ingratiated himself into their friendship, learned all about their habits, and became a familiar figure in their homes.

Then by a strange and sinister fatality those friends became ill. Often they died. Sometimes it was of disease; sometimes of something more mysterious.

Various French life insurance companies began to compare notes. The victims were all heavily insured.

After the policies were issued Girard proceeded to get rid of the insured either by poison or by slipping typhoid cultures into their food or drink.

Then by a strange and sinister fatality those friends became ill. Often they died. Sometimes it was of disease; sometimes of something more mysterious.

But the state proved his guilt. Only in that way could it prove that his wife and friend were accomplices.

MARION MEN BROUGHT HERE TO ARRANGE BOND

MARION — George Myers, former saloonist, and Gus Gorenflo, farmer, who were arrested on charges of illegal possession of intoxicating liquor, were taken to Lima Wednesday for arraignment of their bond. The hearing of the men was to be held this morning and when they sought continuance for the fourth time, the city turned them over to the federal authorities.

SULLIVAN IS NOT GIVEN RELEASE

Official Order For Postmaster Not Received

Uncertainty still existed up to noon Wednesday as to the time when James E. Sullivan would be released from his duties as postmaster, from which he tendered his resignation, to become effective November 30.

Sullivan had received nothing of an official character from Washington, giving him authority to turn the affairs of the office over to Colonel Albert E. Gale, designated to succeed him, as temporary postmaster. Gale stated Wednesday that he had not been notified to enter upon his duties at the postoffice and that he would make no attempt to do so until such time as he receives authority from Washington, other than the mere announcement that he is to succeed Sullivan.

Both Sullivan and Gale anticipated receipt of information of some sort from Washington during the day, they said Wednesday. Sullivan is awaiting release.

An air of mystery surrounds the situation and the parties interested are unable to understand just where the trouble lies. Conflicting reports from Washington concern statements attributed to Congressman John L. Cable.

It was reported from the seat of national government Tuesday that Cable had stated Gale would not take office until January 30 and later he was accredited with having said that the designated acting postmaster would go on duty November 30.

Colonel Gale said he would not call at the postoffice to relieve Sullivan Wednesday, unless later in the day he should receive orders to do so.

Owing to the fact that the Lima postmaster pays a salary of $3,900 a year, a two-month delay means something to Gale.

Sullivan is anxious to be relieved from duty, as he has arranged to enter into business and expects to depart from Lima, with his family.

MANY ARE DRIVEN MAD BY HUNGER

New Horrors Added to Famine Situation in Russia

PEOPLE EAT CATS, CARRION

Mothers Resort to Means of Ending Children's Lives

RIGA — (By Associated Press) —

The famine horrors in Russia are growing with the approach of winter, official Bolshevik government advices show.

In the Saratov region where 389,000 peasants are listed as starving, even the children have been without food five days and many persons are going mad, some being seized with a mania that they have plenty of bread.

While in the summer many of the inhabitants subsisted on field mice, they are now reduced to eating cats, carrion, and grass which only camels hitherto would eat.

Dispatches to the Rosta, official news agency, say that many mothers are bathing their children in a poisonous extract made from sheep's wool, hoping it will bring about their death.

At Tashkent, Asiatic Russia, there is an increasing flood of refugees, according to radio advices. Two thousand persons are starving at the railroad station there and the daily deaths average seventy.

U. S. FEEDING HALF MILLION

MOSCOW — (By Associated Press) — A total of 1,200,000 children in the famine districts of Russia will be receiving regular food allotments from the American relief administration by the first of next year, it was stated by Walter L. Brown, director, on his departure from Moscow after an inspection tour.

"We are having fewer difficulties than we expected when we arranged for the relief work three months ago," he said. "Contrary to predictions, the Red army is not taking any of the food, and we are operating virtually without loss from theft. The amount of supplies stolen in Russia has been far less than was the case in Armenia, Austria and Poland."

"We are now feeding half a million children, and by January the number will be 1,200,000. It is done at a cost of eighty cents a month for each child, or a total of $12,000,000 until the next harvest."

MILLIONS SWEEP

Damage From Storm in New England Runs High

BOSTON, Mass. — (By Associated Press) — Under the first sunshine in four days, New England began to thaw out today and to slough the icy burden left by successive storms.

The shedding process laid bare the damage, running into millions of dollars. Fallen trees and poles have prostrated electric lighting, telephone, telegraph and street railway services to an extent seldom surpassed. In the case of the electric and telephone companies, it was announced that their difficulties were unprecedented. Railroads also suffered, the Boston and Maine and Boston and Albany being without wires, but thru manual operation of usual mechanical or electrical devices trains were run but little behind time.

The extent of the damage was so great that recovery will be slow. Further nights of darkness are in prospect for nearly half a hundred cities and towns; street railway service in suburbs will not be normal for a week or more and with thousands of telephone lines out of commission toll connections can be restored only in days and individual services probably in weeks.

YOUTH PORTRAYS YOUTH ON STAGE

MARGALLO GILMORE

NEW YORK — (Special) — "If you could interview me ten years from now, I might have some philosophy of the stage, of attainment, of youth."

A frank-eyed, lovely girl sat in her theatre dressing-room, putting on her make-up to go on in one of the heaviest parts ever entrusted to an actress not yet 20, that of Ellen Carmody in "The Straw."

She was Margallo Gilmore, of whom the knowing are prone to talk about not only her great future but also her great present.

"Youth is a rather difficult thing for a young person to philosophize about, isn't it?" she said. "Indeed, I appreciate—oh, so much—all the kind things people say about my work and I do feel a deep gratitude but I have 80 to go before I really arrive!"

Margallo Gilmore doesn't think she knows it all. She is simple, direct, earnest, eager to learn and study the best.

AUTO THEFTS HERE TOTAL $200,000 IN 11 MONTHS

Police Recover 121 of 154 Cars Stolen in Lima

CRIME DECLARED INCREASING

10,000 Machines With Value of $70,000,000 Taken in U. S.

AUTOS STOLEN IN YEAR

Stolen in Lima 154
Recovered 121
Stolen in U. S. 70,000
Value $70,000,000

Automobile thieves are reaping a rich harvest thruout the country and records at Lima police headquarters show they are operating in this section as extensively as any place in the country.

So far this year 154 autos have been stolen here, valued at $200,000. Prompt work by the police has resulted in 121 being recovered, leaving 33 that have found their way to the port of missing cars—the back yard of some garage where they are dismantled, rebuilt and sold.

Local police records show Ford is the chief prey of thieves. Forty-eight of them were stolen here in the last 11 months. Next in order come Overlands with 26 stolen and then Cadillacs with 24.

Other popular cars with thieves here were: Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Studebakers, Willys-Knights, Hudsons, Daddies, Lexingtons' Olds and Auburns. At least one car of nearly every popular make is included in the list.

Cars stolen in Lima have been found on the Northern peninsula of Michigan; the balm coast of Florida; in New York and at the Golden Gate on the West.

Lima police say thefts of cars are increasing. Failure to properly look into them is given as the chief aid to thieves.

Carelessness of automobile owners is another big factor. Tests revealed that most owners do not lock their cars.

Detectives made a test in New York streets. They counted 34 cars equipped with locks, 66 of which were not locked.

A tremendous increase in automobile thefts is shown by figures for New York city and for nine eastern and New England states.

Thirty thousand automobiles were stolen in 23 large cities during 1920. Chicago leading with 5500 and New York next with 5200. This total has greatly increased during 1921.

IN ELEVEN STATES
Secretary Young of the Underwriters Conference furnishes statistics for thefts and recoveries in 11 states, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine. Showing 2,295 disappeared.

These were insured cars only. The total number of cars stolen in these states during the three months were nearly 4,000 for it is estimated that only about 60 per cent of all cars stolen are insured against theft.

Records show not only a huge increase in thefts, but also a decrease in recovery of stolen cars. Insured cars recovered in New York in 1920 totaled 133, or 29 per cent, while in 1921 the number recovered was 174, only 18 per cent.

In nine months last year 1429 cars were stolen in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina and Virginia. The thefts have increased this year.

In the entire country there were registered last year 8,369,505 passenger automobiles.

THIS IS ATTITUDE OF COMMISSION

List of 25 Applicants Reduced to 9 by Elimination

WILL VISIT OTHER CITIES

Commissioners to Study New Government Elsewhere

"Lima must have a big man for manager."

That is the attitude taken by the new commission, which met informally Tuesday night to discuss applicants and other civic problems it will have to solve.

One member of the commission said Wednesday that the 25 applicants had been given consideration at the meeting Tuesday night and that the list was cut down to nine. From this number the new manager probably will be chosen.

LIST IS CONSIDERED

"The commission went thru the list very thoroughly," said the commissioner. "It was the belief of all members that the biggest man possible should be chosen to serve the city under the new form of government."

"We have cut the eligible list to nine and believe we will be able to choose the right man from this number," he added.

There is no probability that a Lima man will be considered for the place. The belief has been expressed that an outsider free from all entanglements and with a clear field should be selected to start the new government here.

It has been pointed out that it undoubtedly would be possible to hire a local man who could give a good administration, but that a Lima man would be at a disadvantage, which would not be true if a stranger took up the work.

The commission probably will be in a position to announce its choice for manager before it officially takes office.

It was decided at the meeting Tuesday night that the new governing body should carefully study the working of the plan in other cities prior to the first start. It is probable that a number of trips will be made by the members to cities which have had the plan for some time. The most accessible of these are Dayton and Springfield, where the plan is declared to be successful.

BIG PROBLEMS AHEAD
A number of big problems to come up in city government shortly after January 1st are being considered by the commission, in order that the members may be thoroughly familiar with them and will be able to get a running start. In this way practically no time will be lost in the change of administrations.

The full official family will be arranged by the time the commission steps in, it is announced. Only the formality of taking office will be required. Trained men are being chosen for various berths, which will remove possibility of delay.

CURLEY INDUCTED

Becomes Archbishop of Baltimore, Succeeding Gibbons

BALTIMORE, Md. — (By Associated Press) — Most Rev. Michael J. Curley, former bishop of St. Augustine, Florida, was installed archbishop of Baltimore at the cathedral this morning, succeeding the late James Cardinal Gibbons in that capacity.

The conferring of the Pallium, the crowning act in the elevation of a bishop to the arch-episcopacy, will take place in January next.

Today's ceremonies were comparatively simple and in no way approached the pomp and splendor accompanying the bestowal of the Pallium.

Monsignor Curley is tenth archbishop of Baltimore. It was the first installation ceremony held in the historic edifice since Cardinal Gibbons, then bishop of Richmond, became head of the archdiocese more than 44 years ago.

CAME HOME ONLY AT MEAL TIME

Mrs. Evans Charges Husband in Divorce Suit

THREE PETITIONS FILED

Hubby Pushed Over Stove, Cairo Woman Alleges

Meals which she provided were the only thing which brought WILIS Evans home, Mrs. Zoe Evans, 425 Harrison-av., says. In a suit for divorce filed in common pleas court Wednesday.

Mrs. Evans declares as soon as his meals were finished, he would "doff up," leave her and spend the time until late in the night with other men playing cards and spending money.

When she remonstrated with him, Mrs. Evans says, he told her: "You have a good meal ticket; what more do you want?" When she asked him to accompany her to church, her questions were answered by vile language and curses, the petition recites.

They separated in July, 1929. Evans is now in Toledo with another woman, according to the petition. The couple were married in Delphos on December 1, 1910, and have no children.

HUSBAND IS ROUGH

It was a favorite pastime of Samuel J. Miller, West Cairo, to push his wife over stoves and rocking chairs, Mrs. Miller says in her suit for divorce, filed late Tuesday. She fears he will do her physical injury and was granted an injunction to prevent him annoying her. She asks his dower in lot 50, West Cairo, be barred.

The couple were married in Lima on May 15, 1915, and have no children. She asks restoration of her former name of Mary Harpster. Believing his wife's first husband is alive and that neither have secured a divorce, Ernest Gardner instituted suit for separation Tuesday afternoon, from Mary Gardner. She was the wife of Alfred Gardner before her marriage to Gardner in August, 1914, in Troy, N. Y.

Gardner charges that while she spent her nights away from their home, he was forced to remain and care for her two children, seven and nine years old, by her first marriage.

They separated on November 22, Mr. Gardner residing at 712 Hazen-av. and is an employee in a cigar factory, where her husband also works.

Kennard Johnson, manager of the chamber of commerce announced Wednesday.

Unification of aims of the various clubs and consolidation of efforts, without interference with the individual work of each is the proposed function of the conference.

CAIRO MAN INDEXING PROBATE COURT JOURNAL

Cases which have been acted upon or are now pending in probate court may be easily found now. County commissioners have employed Charles Willoughby, Contant, to index the large journal containing all these cases. The work must all be done by hand-writing. Modern typewritten methods have not crept into this index.

Willoughby began his work Wednesday.

MILD TONIGHT AND THURSDAY

TEED has been waiting for a visitation of snow, as first a rabbit hunting, but to date has been disappointed by failure of a "fall of the beautiful."

Like a good hunter should, he isn't committing a little thing like that to keep him away from the fields and woods and the enervating chase of the cottontail. Having in mind the enjoyment of his favorite pastime, Ted scans the weather forecast daily, but can't see snow in sight soon, since the prediction is that "twill be warmer tonight in the south and west portions."

For tonight and Thursday, we have in prospect, according to the weatherman's viewpoint, cloudy and unsettled conditions.

MUNICIPAL JUDGE IN AUTO MISHAP

Sedan Car in Collision With Transfer Truck

Judge Emmett J. Jackson, 805 W. Spring-st., narrowly escaped serious injury Wednesday noon, when a Ford sedan in which he was driving in W. Market-st was partially wrecked in a collision with a Lima Transfer truck, driven by Fred Jones, colored.

Both drivers were badly shaken up by the crash and a wheel was broken on each of the two vehicles. Judge Jackson was the sole occupant of his car.

Judge Jackson was driving west in Market-st in a Ford sedan, at a speed of 15 miles an hour, he states. The two machines were in front of the Overland and Studebaker agencies, just east of the Lima Club at the time of the crash.

The transfer truck, headed east, was hitting a slightly faster clip, according to witnesses. Jones turned out to pass Judge Jackson. According to Jackson, he turned too close and the left front wheel of the truck hit the left rear wheel on Jackson's car and ripped it off. The crash also broke a wheel on the truck.

SUCCESS IN CAMPAIGN WOOLEN MILLS SITE FUND IS BELIEVED TO BE NEAR

Approximately $6,000 of the $12,000 fund being campaigned for under the auspices of the chamber of commerce, to provide a site for the Lima Woolen Mills, Inc., had been raised Wednesday at noon. Three or four of the committees did not report, but it was anticipated their figures would materially increase the amount.

Working divisions reported to the board of directors of the chamber of commerce Wednesday that $5,025 had been secured. They were only one-half thru their respective districts. It was claimed. It was anticipated the four committees that failed to report have raised very nearly their quota, which would bring the drive near its objective.

DR. CLARK ADDRESSES LIONS ON CRIMINOLOGY

That all persons are potential criminals, subject only to education and conditions to turn each into actual law breakers, was the substance of a talk given before the Lions Club Wednesday noon by Dr. Chas. H. Clark of the state hospital for the criminal insane.

Dr. Clark, who has made a study of criminology, gave from his store of information the many beliefs that have come down thru the ages in regard to crime and concluding with the present day authorities.

Paul Landis, city solicitor-to-be of the new administration, was also a guest of the Lions and spoke briefly.

GIRL MURDERED IN TOLEDO HOTEL

Young Woman's Body Found Locked in Room

STRANGLER BY ASSAILANT

Authorities Without Any Clue to the Crime

TOLEDO—(By United Press)—The body of a young woman, the face swollen and bruised, was found locked in a room in a downtown hotel here early today. She had been strangled to death.

The assailant stole the hotel register and resorted to other carefully planned means to conceal his identity and all clues to the murder mystery.

A woman and man, registering as husband and wife, entered the hotel Tuesday night and were assigned the room where the girl's body was discovered.

During the night, John Martin, of Louisville, Ky., guest at the hotel, was aroused by moans and cries of a woman. In the corridor he met a man waiting up and down, who volunteered that his wife was ill.

Police have been unable to learn how the man left the room or the hotel. A search was made today for finger prints as a possible clue.

MOTHER TALKS TO BOY MURDERER

Mrs. Nierengarten Visits Son in Wapakoneta Jail

Mrs. Louise Nierengarten, mother of Harold, confessed slayer of "Scotty" Kershaw, saw her son for the first time since his arrest, Tuesday.

The meeting occurred in the narrow confines of the prison cell in Auglaize-co jail, at Wapakoneta. Following the interview, the mother broke down and wept bitterly.

The reunion of mother and son was in the presence of Leo Nierengarten, a brother, who recently reached Lima from Uniontown, Pa., to assist in Harold's defense. An officer was also present.

A special grand jury may be convened on Friday, December 3, to consider the case, Prosecutor Carl Timmermeister announced Wednesday.

The presence of the original owner of the revolver is desired at the time the case comes up. If a special session of the grand jury is called, the case will be heard by the jury at the January session.

Whether insanity will be urged as the cause of the murder is uncertain. Neither Leo Nierengarten nor other members of the family will make any definite statement.

Counsel had not been retained for Nierengarten's defense at a late hour Wednesday afternoon.

REDUCED RATES ON FORD ROAD HELD UP TO JAN. 31

Reduced rates on coal which Henry Ford attempted to put into effect on his railroad, the Detroit, Toledo and Ironton, were further suspended Wednesday by the Interstate commerce commission, according to announcement from Washington. The original commission order said the rates should not be reduced until January 1, pending an investigation by the commission, while the amendment postponed the effective date to January 31.

FRAME PROGRAM FOR CONGRESS

Harding and the Leading Solons Hold Conferences

WASHINGTON—(By Associated Press)—President Harding was understood today to have planned a series of conferences with congressional leaders with respect to the legislative program for the regular session of congress convening Monday.

Senator Watson of Indiana, who with Senator Curtis of Kansas, the Republican whip, has been directing senate affairs during the absence of Senator Lodge at the arms conference, held a conference with the president a few days ago and was understood to have another engagement for late today or in the near future.

Senator Curtis probably will see the president tomorrow and several other senators and one or two house leaders likely will be called to the White House later in the week.

Conversations of leaders today indicated that they believed the president should lead the way in outlining a legislative program, since, it was said, it was the desire of senate leaders to do nothing that would interfere or embarrass the conference on limitation of armaments.

This was taken to mean that such subjects as the allied debt refunding bill would be sidetracked temporarily.

CHRISTMAS SALES INCREASING

Merchants Report Thriving Trade Award Display Prize

"The largest number of Christmas sales ever recorded in this city at so early a date," was the text of combined statements made by a score of Lima merchants Wednesday in answer to the question, "Is Christmas Display Week a success?"

"People are thronging the stores and are buying small articles, merchandise that is generally left until the last minute. Christmas post cards, generally the last to move, are going first, and fast," declared a N. Main-st merchant.

The three judges selected by the Lima Ad club to judge the Christmas Display Week windows, Martin Nellis, H. E. Simonson and Walt Parmenter, made the rounds of stores Wednesday afternoon, took notes on the general features of the displays and will look over the windows again Wednesday night to see the lighting effects incorporated.

The judges will choose the winner and send the name to The Lima News in a sealed envelope, Thursday morning. The News will announce the winning merchant's name Thursday afternoon. The prize, a beautiful silver loving cup on display in Rappert's window, will be awarded Thursday.

TO JOIN NATIONAL BODY Lima credit members of the Lima Merchants' association have arranged to affiliate with the National Retail Credit Mens' association. Action was taken at a dinner meeting in the Normal Hotel, Tuesday night. Thirty members were present.

CHICAGO—(By Associated Press)—The last court action growing out of the wills of James C. King, Honorable lumberman, and the late at Concord, N. An alleged secret of Mr. King, produced by Stough after Mrs. King's death, was that a forgery by Judge Baldwin in court several months ago. At hearing he testified he had been played as a German agent by tain Roy-Ed, former German attaché, later sent home by United States. EX-OFFICERS IN RUM BUSINESS

Many Former German Navy Captains Now Smuggling Liquor

RING STRONGLY ORGANIZED

Sales Are Made in Sweden and Finland

STOCKHOLM — (By Associated Press) — Rum-running into Sweden from Germany has developed into something like a public scandal, say Swedish newspapers. The broken nature of the coast line and the thousands of small islands dotting the sea approaches are all in favor of smuggling enterprises.

The craft engaged in this trade are generally small, fast-sailing schooners, captained as a rule by ex-officers of the imperial German navy. Many of the skippers bear names well known in the records of submarine activity. Their daring and experience makes it very difficult for Swedish coastguards to stop them.

WELL ORGANIZED
From Reval, Rostock, Stettin, Lubeck and other German ports these vessels put to sea, their cargo always consigned, according to the ship's papers, to some Finnish port. Once among the rocky archipelago of eastern Sweden, the cargo is landed piecemeal after nightfall on the rocks from which it is later removed by accomplices ashore who have a well ramified organization for the island distribution of the goods.

This illicit traffic is said by Swedish paper to be enormous. The papers are full of stirring stories about smugglers and their doings. They remain outside the territorial waters, cruising about until their friends seize their chance to rush out in fast motor boats, often in a heavy gale, tranship the liquor and disappear in the dangerous labyrinth of the archipelago.

POLICE HAVE TO PAY
Lately the police have started a scheme to beat the rum-runners at their own game. The other day a police boat, camouflaged as a smuggling craft, boarded a German schooner and loaded up to the gunwale from the schooner's hold, unconscious of the fact that the schooner was just outside the territorial limit. When the policemen tried to leave the schooner without paying, the smugglers threatened to throw them overboard and there was nothing for them but to pay for the liquor.

In another case, the correspondent was told, a gale blew up soon after the coast guards had boarded a ship which happened to be within the three mile limit, and owing to dangerous coast, the ship had to put out to sea, taking the Swedish guards away to Germany.

In Sweden and in Finland many of the coast population get their living by smuggling and refuse to go fishing and carry on their legitimate trades. In Finland, where total prohibition prevails, conditions are even worse than in Sweden. Fishing there has entirely ceased, it is said, because rum-running is far more profitable business.

ANGLO-JAP PACT MAY LIVE ON

Simms Thinks Treaty Won't be Killed by Conference

UP TO HUGHES, HE SAYS

Declares Lead Lost by the Secretary of State

(BY WM. PHILIP SIMMS)
Written Expressly for The Lima News

WASHINGTON—The spectacle of "Britain and Japan standing by one another in shining armor," as the former kaiser described armed alliances, casts a shadow over the conference here and may end in bringing it to naught as it lately brought the imperial conference," according to one of the best known British experts in the Far East.

"That it creates distrust probably does not strike Arthur Balfour as any disadvantage," the Britisher continued, adding that in his opinion Britain's chief delegate would undoubtedly cling to the alliance until something better offered or until driven to abandon his position.

A showdown on the Anglo-Japanese alliance, however, is believed imminent despite the fact that Balfour is known to be desirous of reserving it as a trump card as long as possible.

That Secretary of State Hughes has been outplayed by the Balfour-Kato duo is beginning to be more than suspected here.

Hughes, it is observed, led the game brilliantly by playing his ace. He made a final effort to limit the size of the world's navies.

Balfour and Kato, with great flourish, followed suit—but played only a deuce and a trey. They accepted Hughes' offer "in principle."

HUGHES LOSES LEAD

Hughes, many contend, should have followed up his advantage by playing his next highest card, which was to do with the Far Eastern question precisely what he had done with the armament problem.

As he failed to do this, Balfour and Kato seem to have taken the lead. With Hughes' hand weakened and somewhat exposed, the third week of the conference finds Balfour and Kato still "in shining armor," side by side holding the "A-J." Alliance as a club over the head of Uncle Sam.

Working from behind their alliance, Great Britain and Japan continue to quibble over details until the conference, as a result is merely marking time.

Should England and Japan prolong the dickering, it is observed, Hughes can regain the lost leadership by playing his one remaining trump, namely, the withdrawal of his scrap-the-ships offer. Public opinion in Britain and Japan would then play into Hughes' hand.

AID FROM INDIA

Meantime help may come from an entirely unexpected quarter. India threatens to boycott Japanese goods unless the Anglo-Japanese alliance is denounced.

The Curzon-Balfour faction," the Briton quoted above stated, "would be ready to strain relations with the dominions and have an anti-British boycott in India, but an anti-Japanese boycott would end the alliance in very quick time."

A section of British opinion, however, is pessimistic regarding the alliance. They point out that Balfour boasts of making the original alliance with Japan and that he, more than any one else, was responsible for the secret agreement of 1917 whereby Japan was left in Shanghai and got control of the Pacific Islands.

Unless the United States plays a strong hand, all admit the "A-J." alliance will be renewed and aimed, despite contentions to the contrary, only at America.

As the play goes round the green baize table it looks as if it is once again Hughes' time to deal.

WAR RISK CLAIM OPENS GRAVE

Chicago Woman, Mistaken in Identity of Soldier Husband

FOUND TO BE CLEVELAND MAN

Buried Third Time—Ohio News
in Brief

CLEVELAND — (By Associated Press)—The body of William H. Campbell, 26, who was killed in the battle of the Argonne forest in September, 1918, was buried for the third time here today.

The body was first interred overseas. Upon its arrival in this country three weeks ago, it was claimed by a Chicago woman as that of her husband and taken to that city, where burial was made. The woman then made application for war risk insurance.

Up to that time, Mrs. Mabel Heckel, of Cleveland, Campbell's sister, had been drawing the insurance.

Congressman John C. Speaks, of Columbus, who was a brigadier general of the thirty-seventh division, of which Campbell was a member, interceded. It was found that the first name of the Chicago man was not William. The body was disinterred again, identified as that of the Cleveland soldier and sent here, where it was buried with military honors.

LAURA KELLY, 4, ENTIRELY CURED OF HER ASTHMA

Kerker Remedy Given Full Credit
—Doctor Said She Couldn't Live

"My little girl, Laura, aged 4, had the asthma so badly that the doctor didn't think she could live another day," said Mrs. Helen Kelly, 1623 May Street, Zanesville, Ohio, in relating to the Kerker Medicine Company her remarkable recovery. "She wheezed so badly that you could hear her away out in the yard. Many times she could not lie in bed; we had to hold her. She had the asthma since she had the flu in November, 1917. A neighbor suggested to us that we try Kerker's Asthma and Hay Fever preparation. She got wonderful results from the very first bottle. She has taken three bottles now and is just as well as can be."

"The Kerker remedy is the finest thing I have ever heard of and is the only medicine that did Laura any good. She is just as well now as any of my other children."

(Signed) MRS. HELEN KELLY

BEATTY SETS SAIL

Will Return Soon As He "Jolly Well Can"

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — Admiral Beatty sailed for home today with Lady Beatty on the steamer Adriatic, after "six weeks of a happy, hectic time" in the United States as guests of the American Legion and naval adviser to the British delegation at the armament conference.

The hero of Jutland, dressed in mufti, said he was coming to the United States again "just as soon as I jolly well can."

Replying to a question as to what action he thought would be likely if Japan should insist on increasing its naval ratio in the limitation program, he said other powers would have to do the same thing.

The 5-5-3 proposal had been accepted by the British government and its experts in Washington as satisfactory in every way, he added.

If the conference should close tomorrow, it would be considered a success, Admiral Beatty said. He

LIFE IS SWEET IN GOOD HEALTH

Weak Blood Causes Baffling Feeling of Exhaustion

There is nothing so sensational as living in the glow of good health, and nothing so empty as existing in the bleakness of disordered health. There is the direct testimony of medical and ordinary experience to prove that Gude's Pepto-Mangan restores poor blood to its natural healthy state. Physicians know its value and have prescribed it for years. Tens of thousands of men and women and children rely upon it. Pepto-Mangan revives blood which has grown thin and weak and which has left its mark on the complexion and the disposition. Features hardened by sour feelings soften into a pleasant expression. EXILE TREATED AS HONORED GUEST

Ex-Emperor Living in Splendor
in Portugal

FUNCHAL, ISLAND OF MADEIRA — (By Associated Press) — Former Emperor Charles of Austria Hungary and former Empress Zita, are living quietly in their exile. Their only guard at the villa Victoria, where they reside, is a plainclothes policeman, who accompanies them on their journeys about the island to prevent beggars from bothering them and to avert other annoyances. Charles and Zita are treated as honored guests by the new governor, Major Acacio Correa Pinto, and the other Portuguese officials. They attend mass on Sundays and have engaged Canon De Gouveia as their private chaplain.

It is considered likely that the former royal pair will engage the villa Victoria for a permanent residence. The villa adjoins the grounds of the Palace hotel, at which the British consul is staying, but the exiles do not mix with the hotel guests. Charles is taciturn, but Zita is affable and talks cheerfully to those she meets.

Both enjoyed the voyage thru the Black sea and the Mediterranean on the British courier Cardiff, which brought them here, and they expressed themselves as being sorry when the trip ended. As the cruiser left here on her homeward trip, Charles and Zita stood in the windows of their residence, waving farewells to the officers.

There was some talk of a Portuguese cruiser being sent here as a guard ship to prevent any possible attempt at escape by the former royal pair, but thus far none has appeared.

McCormick was called for service a week ago but was excused because of an error in the summons. He thereupon volunteered his services. Since then he has occupied a bench with other veniremen awaiting a call to the jury box.

HARDING TO MAKE BUSINESS PLEA

Prepares His Next Message to Congress

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — President Harding will deliver a business message to congress when it meets for the regular session next week.

The message will be devoted for the most part to outlining the administration's efforts to put the government on a business basis, and to legislation designed to speed up the return to normalcy.

It will be delivered to congress next Tuesday, probably in person. An earnest appeal to rush the permanent tariff bill to completion will be included. While the president is known to be dissatisfied with the tax bill just passed, he does not contemplate asking for new tax legislation at once, feeling that business should not be held in further uncertainty.

Congress will be asked to amend the Jones merchant marine act by striking out the provision, directing the president to abrogate commercial treaties, which forbid the imposition of discriminatory joint land and water rates.

LI HUNG CHANG

DID you ever have to grit your teeth, in polite circles, to keep from telling some one exactly what you thought of him?

Did you ever stop to think what a commotion there would be in Lima if everybody spoke their real thoughts instead of salving each other?

Civilization turns us into turtles. We live in hard shells, solitary, keeping most of our real thoughts to ourselves. When the turtle head emerges from the shell, it usually engages in artificial, masked conversation.

If you are too plain about saying what you think, you are apt to be jailed, fined or ostracized. Observing which, most of us are wary, conforming to a social code based on deception and secrecy.

THE most remarkable visitor that ever came to America was Li Hung Chang, Chinese diplomat.

When he toured our country in 1896, he was 73 years old, mysterious and inscrutable. What especially delighted and dumbfounded Americans was that Li Hung Chang "made no bones" in talking. He said exactly what he thought.

Introduced to a woman of prominence, he asked: "How old are you? Do you quarrel with your husband? Is your bad temper to blame? What makes those wrinkles in your face?"

To a rich man he was apt to say: "How much money are you worth? Did you get it by working for it, or did some one else earn it for you?"

This bluntness, and an uncertainty as to whether or not he was kidding us, made Li Hung Chang a sensation when he toured America 25 years ago. He asked his bland questions with a child-like simplicity that made them inoffensive.

YOU would think that a man of Li Hung Chang's bluntness would not get very far in life without being forcibly sidetracked.

Not so. He was a financial success personally, combining diplomatic genius with Rockefeller business sagacity.

As a public character, he was a still greater success. He had the clairvoyant gift of looking far into the future. So did John Hay, then our secretary of state. Together they originated, in September, 1899, "the open door" policy for China.

You are hearing a lot about that policy now, and troubles that have risen because it was not lived up to.

The Chinese at the arms-limitation conference are having hard sledding. That's because they lack a great leader like Li Hung Chang. Too bad, too, that Li Hung Chang is not living to tell the conference what the rest of us are only thinking.

AVOIDING ACCIDENTS

HOW to avoid accidents. Grammar school pupils will hear much about this, during National Safety Week, beginning Dec. 4, when it is observed in Lima. Parents and teachers are urged to help. All they will tell the children can be summed up in one rule:

"All accidents are caused by some one's carelessness, usually the victim's."

Centenarians, explaining why they reached advanced age, usually forget the most important reason, which is—that their lives were ruled by personal caution, that they did not make a practice of squinting down rifle barrels, crossing railroad tracks without looking both ways, or taking other dangerous chances.

Children forget quickly, especially rules that restrict. Drill safety rules into them every week. Give them a double dose Safety Week. Repetition makes wisdom indelible.

POEMS YOU WILL ENJOY

BY BURTON BRADLEY

THE ANGRY ONES

They are the smashers of harsh tradition,
They are the breakers of idols vain,
The angry men with a raging mission,
With furious heart and with seething brain.
For their souls are thrilled with a splendid ire
At Mammon throned and at Man east down,
And their eyes are baleful with angry fire,
And they wear their rage as a flaming crown!
They cannot view with a calm quietude
The sight of ancient, established wrongs,
They fight with a wrath that is incandescent
And march to battle with angry songs!

Every day the weatherman delays trotting out zero weather increases the battling average of the joy of living.

A curious western paragrapher wants to know what finally became of the old-fashioned dust the redskins used to bite so frequently.

They do not hate in a half-way fashion
The mercenaries of craft and greed,
But wield their weapons in righteous passion,
For they are a choleric, reckless breed.
Oh, it is a clean white rage which quickens
The struggle upward to better things,
They are joyously mad when the conflict thickens,
Their anger giveth their spirit wings:
Theirs is the wrath that at last shall leave
The soul of man till it breaks the cloud,
A glorious fury straight from heaven,
A underbolt from the hand of God!

IT MUST BE DONE!

LIMA and Allen-co cannot afford to fail in the task of making a success of the annual Red Cross Roll Call. Each and every person asked to contribute $1 in renewing their membership should consider it not only a duty, but a privilege to do so.

We are often impressed by the opinion that the war taught us what might be termed a "bad" habit in developing the "drive" idea, but those who are opposed to solicitation of funds for this or that on general principles, should not include the Red Cross in the list of banned things. There is no organization in this or any other country that deserves a quicker, more generous or willing response when the call is made.

The guns of battle are stilled, the soldiers have been withdrawn from the battle front, but the results of war we still have with us in battered bodies and impaired health of soldiers, maimed and often helpless men who gave their all for civilization and their country and its continued existence.

The Red Cross has its great work to do in time of peace as well as in time of war. It has never been said that Lima and Allen-co failed in support of the "Greatest Mother of Them All"—The Red Cross.

Once each year we are called upon to contribute $1 each to the wonderful humanitarian organization. When the necessity for such an organization is remembered and the splendid work of humanity is recalled, it is difficult for anyone to refuse or fail to do his little part and contribute in the amount sought.

The people of Ohio testified in the last election their loyalty and devotion to the men who went out from this state, answering the call to duty when peril threatened. By thousands and tens and hundreds of thousands they voted to add an additional tax upon themselves that the men and women who served might be at least partially compensated for what they lost.

Funds sought by the Red Cross now will be used for a dual purpose—aiding the victims of war and bringing succor to those who are victims of pestilence, holocausts, great catastrophes—wrecks, fires or floods in peace time.

The Roll Call begins tomorrow. Be ready with a dollar and the heart of a willing giver.

MODERN DANCING

DANCING is exercise and a natural emotional outlet, says Mrs. Martha P. Falconer, health and social expert.

Like most evils, dancing is a virtue carried into vice by excess.

Sometimes, and periodically, dancing is a disease, an epidemic of social hysteria. Europe was swept by such an epidemic 540 years ago. Italian doctors thought it was a contagious malady, caused by the bite of the tarantula spider. To cure it, they invented for patients the fast tarantula dance, on the principle of one poison counteracting another.

The world now is emerging from a similar epidemic of dancing social-hysteria, outbreak of which was forerunner of the World War.

Fortunately, Lima has not been afflicted to any great extent by the evils many cities have had to battle.

YOU AND I: COMMENT ON TOPICS OF INTEREST TO ALL

BLUEBLOODS

Ten thousand horses, cattle, sheep and hogs are shipped into Chicago, to the international livestock exposition. Visitors come from all over the world. Without that little gray organ called the human brain, we might be the ones on exhibition, with animals feeding us thru the bars.

This Chicago exposition will attract more attention 1400 years hence than it does now, when meat-eating will be outlawed by a vegetarian civilization. Our descendants will look back and try to figure out our stupidity at giving more attention to prize livestock than to prize babies.

GOSSIP

An injunction, restraining a woman from gossiping about the family next door, is issued in Houston, Tex., by Judge J. D. Harvey. This will cause more gossip.

Gossip, the assassin of reputation, travels like a forest fire. Cowardly, it strikes in the back.

There is no better sort of citizen than the man or woman who will not say, behind people's backs, what they would not say to their faces. Even the rattlesnake warns before it strikes.

DREAM

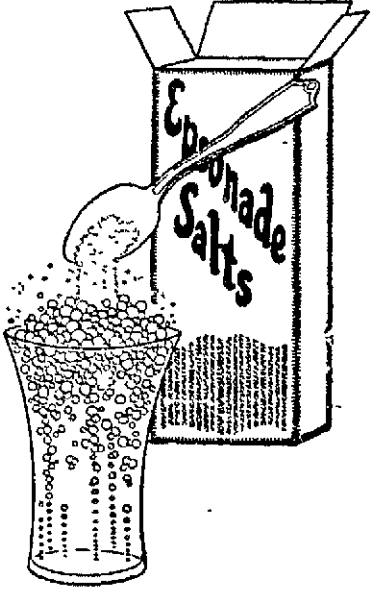

Louisa Wells toiled as a weaver girl in a mill at Lowell, Mass. Her great dream was to be buried in a certain cemetery, among the departed mighty. She died in 1886, leaving her life savings to purchase burial space and a marble monument.

Her heirs contested the will. Now, after 36 years, courts decide that Louisa's life-dream is to be fulfilled. The poor little weaver girl rests among the mighty.

Too bad, for her aching heart, that Louisa cannot see her monument. It will be finer than she expected, for her savings, originally about $2000, have grown to $8000 by compound interest. Enough is left over to care perpetually for the memorial.

Common Sense Ways to Stay Well
—WORRY—

You would instantly consider man to be insane asylum who ped a clock to save time. So foolish and absurd a thing to do! But is it any more foolish than man who worries so much about financial troubles that he has a nervous breakdown and is relegated to a sanitarium for a long rest?

It sounds like a paradox, that worrying about money costs more money but in many cases this is the literal truth.

It is true that not all worry is preventable, yet much of it, as its ill effects, can be avoided. Most of our fears are never realized. If we meet our troubles day by day as they come without wor about them before hand we that we have the strength to come to them.

Worrying weakens the forces. The best antidote, change of mental occupation, away from the scenes which evoke worry, exercise in the air, read one or several good books of a lighter strain, find pleasure in an absorbing hobby. A temporary change of occupation, when possible, often brings considerable relief from worry.

Excessive worry tires the muscles. The poison that resists a natural product that must be thrown off to keep from getting "nerves" and "blues."

As in the case of bodily fatigue the best remedy is complete rest and relaxation. A sound body rule is accompanied by a sound and healthy mind.

SUBPOENA ISSUED FOR BELMONT

Must Testify in Probe of Rapid Transit Company

HERE INVITATION REFUSED

Other Directors in the Concern Also Summoned

NEW YORK — (By Associated Press) — August Belmont and other directors of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, invited by the state grand jury to appear and explain financial transactions of 1917 and 1918, refused today to testify by invitation.

James I. Quackenbush, general counsel for the Interborough, notified the commission of the practical refusal of the directors to appear. He said the refusal was to encourage hostile attacks on the company by Clarence H. Verner, "a notorious speculator in law suits and professional litigator who masquerades under the name of the Continental Securities Company, the General Investment Company and other aliases."

George McAneny, commission chairman, immediately ordered issuance of subpoenas to compel attendance of the directors. Seven subpoenas returnable tomorrow morning were issued for August Belmont, Edward J. Bertram, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Daniel G. Reid, F. De C. Sullivan, Thomas G. Cuyler and Morgan J. O'Brien.

Turning to the commission Mr. Quackenbush said:

"One thing I want to say is that they will not sign a waiver of immunity."

HARDING - SENATE CLASH SEEN

Row Over Association of Nations Threatens

(BY LAWRENCE MARTIN)

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — A head-on clash between the senate and President Harding is certain if the executive tries to establish his hoped-for association of nations on a basis of unwritten "gentlemen's agreements."

The mere suggestion that the association might function without a written constitution has outraged those senate constitutionalists who are very jealous of the senate's part in foreign relations.

Many senators would regard an attempt by Harding to bind the United States into an association by mere gentlemen's agreements as an invasion of the senate's prerogatives.

Harding has said he would just as readily accept a nation's word as its bond and would regard one as binding as the other. He also has said he would be satisfied to take the word of all the nations that they would be bound by decisions of the present conference and would carry them out.

Many senators in both parties hold the president has no power to bind the United States to any source of conduct in conjunction with a foreign power, without senatorial concurrence.

MANY FARMS ARE UNDER WATER

Flood Situation Along the Ohio River Still Serious

GALLIPOLIS, O. — (By Associated Press) — The Ohio river had reached a stage of 46 1-2 feet here this morning and is still rising. At Point Pleasant, the water is now three feet above the danger line and government officials expect a further rise of two feet before the crest is reached.

HUNDREDS of acres of farm lands in this vicinity now are under water. The Kanawha and Michigan railroad began this morning moving its rolling stock to higher ground at the Hobson shops above here.

HIGH AT CINCINNATI

CINCINNATI — The flood stage of 50 feet will be passed by the Ohio river here on the present rise, the government weather bureau announced today. According to the weather forecaster the river in the Cincinnati district will continue rising tonight and tomorrow. The flood stage will be passed at Ashland today, at Portsmouth tonight or tomorrow and at Cincinnati late tomorrow. The crest at Ashland and Cincinnati will probably be between 51 and 52 feet and at Portsmouth about 51 feet. At the other stations in the Cincinnati district below the mouth of the Kanawha the flood stage will probably not be reached.

No material damage will result here if the stage of the river does not exceed 52 feet. The gauge early today registered 41.2 feet.

AUTO TIRES TO BE MADE HERE

Buckeye Reliner Company Buys Delphos Plant

On March 1 the manufacture of automobile tires and tubes will be started in Lima. Two hundred men will be employed in the new industry, according to announcement made by the Lima Chamber of Commerce, following a director's meeting Wednesday noon.

Negotiations have been completed whereby the Buckeye Reliner Producing company, 633 N. Jackson-st., takes over all equipment and machinery of the Glamorgan Tire & Rubber company, which was located on Erie Wednesday and will be sent to Lima.

The Buckeye Reliner Producing company was incorporated under the Ohio laws in 1919 for $150,000 by B. R. Rowinski and Isaac Bonfin, the present owners and operators of the concern. Forty employees make up the personnel of the industry.

Alterations have recently been made, it was announced Wednesday, to provide for 20,000 square feet of floor space to house the new industry. Automobile tires and inner tubes will be manufactured under the trade name of Buckeye Tires and Tubes. The factory's capacity will be 300 tires a day.

Isaac Bonfin, partner in the new enterprise, said Wednesday that at present the capital stock of the company would not be increased.

"We expect the machinery here in a day or so and will start immediately getting it in place. On March 1 we will begin actual manufacture of tires and tubes with a working force of 200, mostly men," Bonfin said.

At present the firm is engaged in repairing and rebuilding tires and tubes, and will begin actual production of tires and tubes in March.

SEARCH FOR WIFE ENDED BY DEATH

Funeral Services for Mrs. Gant, a Suicide, Thursday

Failing in a wide search for his missing wife, Clara E. Gant, 45, who had been absent five weeks, J. L. Gant, 617 N. Main-st., telegraph operator at the Buckeye Pipe Line office, had no knowledge that she had returned to Lima until her dead body was found Tuesday afternoon in a room at the Marshall Hotel. She died from poison, taken with suicidal intent.

"I never thought it would end this way," the husband said when informed of the tragedy. Gant took charge of his wife's possessions, which include several valuable diamonds.

Fear that her husband would refuse to take her back and filled with remorse, was the cause of the rash act. A clipping in the woman's purse told of her departure from Lima five weeks ago, with $1,200 and her jewelry. It was then thought she had gone to visit relatives at Van Wert, but instead she had been in Toledo.

A note found on the dresser in the room explained why she ended her life. Nearly 800 pills found in her possessions. The body was discovered by a chambermaid at the hotel and according to Coroner A. C. Adams, the woman had been dead nearly 24 hours.

The Gants came to Lima from Willard. She was a native of that place. They had been married 24 years.

The body was removed to the Williams & Davis mortuary, where funeral services will be held Thursday at 10 a. m. Burial in Woodlawn.

The ceremony was read before an improvised altar arranged in front of the bay windows in the living room. It was formed of palms and ferns with tall cathedral candles burning on either side.

Mrs. Harry L. Gayer sang "Because" preceding the ceremony. She was accompanied on the harp by Mrs. Ralph Shriver. To the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March, the bride and groom descended the stairs. Mrs. Shriver played softly during the ceremony. The recessional was Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
CHRISTMAS time! Gift time! Toy time! Book time! Yes, by all means let there be books, books, and yet more books! There is no gift that brings joy so enduring, so far-reaching, or so real to young and old, as a book. Children are never too young for books. Teach them the book habit early. And don't buy a book too far over his head for the child to understand. He'll get the idea that all books are hard to understand and turn his attention elsewhere for amusement. Guide him, to be sure, but let the habit take root and it will grow fast.

CLOTH BOOKS FOR BABIES

Buy baby a cloth book that he can't tear with bright pictures. Pictures, and pictures, and pictures! There can't be too many. I cannot over-estimate the value of pictures in books for young children in cities, children in flats, children who never get to see the world outside a city street. For tots we used to stop at Mother Goose. There was a great gap. Not so now!

Old Mother Goose is still invaluable in many, lovely, dressed-up editions, but there are other books that young children adore. For instance, the little bedtime stories of fairy and feathered folk. There are "Peter Rabbit" and other books by Beatrix Potter, up thru the more elaborate series of the same nature, many of which are published nightly in newspapers, and appearing eventually in attractive book form that children love. And there are still more books for tots.

GIVE HIM POETRY, TOO

Mix Kiddy's book diet as you would his food. Don't neglect

Members of the Glode club met with Mrs. Fred E. Gooding, of Lake-wood-av, Tuesday morning. Mrs. Andrew Dimond was the leader. She had a splendid paper on the life and works of Hector Berlioz. Mrs. J. M. Morgan then played a group of orchestral numbers on the Victrola. They were "The Damnation of Faust" and "The Carnival of Rome" by Berlioz; "The New World Symphony" by Debussy and "Symphony in D Minor" by Mozart.

Next meeting will be held in a fortnight with Miss Anna Cantwell, of W. High-st. Miss Nelle Kriete will be leader.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Atkinson (nee Katherine Young) have returned from their wedding trip and are now making their home with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Young, of S. Metcalf-st.

Twenty-four members of the Win One class of the First Baptist church motored to the home of Mrs. Walter Parmenter, of Oakwood-av, Tuesday afternoon, for a party. The afternoon was devoted to sewing, the local chapter, following the traditionals, a social hour was enjoyed, and a luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Parmenter, with Misses Parmenter, in attendance.

Mrs. Howard Hohl, of 226 W. High-st., will entertain the members of the Cotta Circle of Zion Lutheran church Thursday afternoon.

Members of the Stroller's club were entertained with a star party at the home of Melville CaJacob, N. Baxter-st., Tuesday evening.

Bethany Guild of the First Baptist church met with Miss Ruth Thompson of Washington-st., Monday evening. Following the business session evening was enjoyed. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess to the following members: Misses Gertrude Barrington, Lavane Neely, Margaret Kistner, Thelma Condit, Elizabeth Barnett, Ersel Messick and Helen Burgett.

Miss Berneta Ross of W. High-st. was hostess to the members of the Phil Delta Chi sorority Tuesday evening. Miss Elizabeth Wisterman presided. A delectable lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Misses Mary Lamb and Lucile Oberly were pledged to the sorority. A social hour followed.

Olive Roberts Barton

poetry. Get "Fables and Chimeras" and see if he (or she) doesn't love it. It's by Rose Frye-man.

Or buy "A Child's Garden of Verses" by Stevenson, or Kipling's "Raggedy Man." Ten to one Tom or Lou will go to sleep with them under his pillow. There's also "The Posy Ring" by Kate Douglas Wiggin. I must add to the list for tots that Aesop's fables are easily understood and there are many beautiful editions.

For children from 7 to 12 there are first the standard books of fairy tales. Tales from "Arabian Nights," "Greek Myths" by Kingsley, Anderson's and Grimm's "Fairytales," and Ruskin's "King of the Golden River." Keep the happy note uppermost in choosing fairy tales for very young children. The Scandinavian tales such as Grimm and Andersen are a bit somber in places of the child too young. The Oz books are bright and will stretch the imagination till it aches.

JUNGLES AND DESERT ISLES

It's a joy to mention Kipling's "Just So Stories" and his "Jungle Books." Dr. Van Loon's "Ancient Man" and other fascinating books of history for children. "Robinson Crusoe," "Swiss Family Robinson," "Gulliver's Travels," "King Arthur's Knights," and the bound "St. Nicholas." There are many fine tales, too, for children over 12. Stephenson's "Treasure Island," Cooper's "Leatherstocking Tales," and Sir Walter Scott's "Tales of the Border," including "Ivanhoe." The Aesop books for girls over 12 are without a peer.

"Alice in Wonderland" has always been my favorite book for children of all ages. There are, Mrs. Dix's "Merrylips," a fine book with historical setting for children from Tennyson, Shakespeare's "Fables for Children." I could go on and on. And there are many good books of Bible Stories for young people.

"CHATTERBOX"

The English "Chatterbox" is still with us, long may it continue. At here let me add are two dear sweet books also of English importation which come anew each year. "This Year's Book for Boys" and "This Year's Book for Girls." Try them. Buy your boy a variety. Don't let him feed up constantly on the innumerable scout and outdoor series. And don't let your girl live entirely on boarding-school books. They are good but they are not enough. Mix the diet.

Perhaps when you are a little older and can begin to earn some money of your own and you still care to take lessons in dancing, you will be able to pay for them yourself.

Dear Miss Smart:

Perhaps it is a little early to be thinking about Christmas, but I am anxious to have a good recipe for plum pudding. Can you please give me one?

YOUNG HOUSEWIFE

The following ingredients are used: One quart of bread crumbs, one quart of milk, six eggs, one cup of brown sugar, one cup of molasses, one cup of sugar, one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, cloves, allspice, and nutmeg, one cup of currants dried, one cup of raisins, one fourth cup of citron. Boil milk, pour over bread crumbs, and let stand one hour. Then stir into the sugar, spices, raisins, currants, chopped suet, citron and molasses. Beat eggs to a froth and stir in also. Butter a deep earthen pot and pour the mixture into it. Either bake for four hours, or steam for five. Serve with hot lemon sauce.

SUSIE SMART SAYS

I AM a girl 15 years old. My parents are a little poor and cannot afford to give me very many of the things I want in life. All my life I have been crazy about dancing. I was cut out for the stage and that is why I have this longing. My parents cannot afford to give me lessons. Do you know of any place where I could learn without having to pay?

My dear girl, don't you think you are a little bit unreasonable? Indeed, you certainly exaggerate the importance of dancing. You are permitting it to take your mind from your school work and other things far more paramount than dancing.

It is only natural for you to want to learn how to dance. It is a delightful pastime and something which everyone should know something about. However, you should refuse to permit your eagerness to learn to carry you away. It is very foolish for you to have your mind filled with dancing to such an extent that you have no room for thoughts on other subjects.

Certainly some of your friends can teach you something about dancing. It is not always necessary to take instructions. Many of the prettiest and most graceful dancers are those who have practically taught them-

LETTERS TO LOVERS

BY WINONA WILCOX

Tenderness has created the finest conditions of family life. It is the foundation of charity. It has been called "the hope of the world." If it ever animates the mass of people everywhere, there will be no more war, so say the psychologists.

Tenderness is also the cause of the bluest sentiment known in the annals of love. What was once called spooning, now known as "a petting party," is merely an experiment in tenderness made by a man and a maid.

By any other name, it would scrape off the delicate bloom of modesty. And therefore is the petting party condemned by all the guardians, monitors and censors of youth.

Today, delicacy and refinement in love are often scorned by girls and men, even by those who have been "well brought up;" that is, reared to respect the social conventions and certain age-old social taboos. On this account, the average petting party is a rather crude indulgence of still cruder emotions.

Whether the girl who sets the stage for a petting party comes from a co-ed institution or a farm-son or a village high school, she is apt to say something like this to her critics:

"Well, I believe we ought to be perfectly honest always! And so if I like a boy and he likes not let him know it?"

Well—in the name of there's a good reason. The normal girl usual spooning seriously; the no does not.

The boy spoons gladly to whom he could never produce he needs a little tenderness.

Perhaps he is at an age feels "too old" to accept from mother or sister but craves tenderness in some the only available form is with the passing, and to maiden. For him the petting party is a necessity. It sheds his responsibility making as carelessly as he collar on a hot day.

But the girl is more than the boy in love; she petting party to lead some.

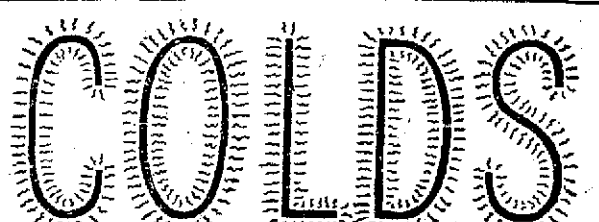

She makes spooning sport, she concentrates upon and night, dresses for it, nothing else. Spooning is a of nature's traps. Pretty girl is so confused that she the honest love of a real I Genuine love and synthetics alike to her. That is her ment for spooning.

Meanwhile the boy is mightily poor training for his girl's husband. He is learn his partner in a petting party how much a girl will stand.

Experimenting in love wears love down but does it. The capacity for love multiplied by multiple experience. It is divided.

The girl who is a habitua reduces her value in the market.

A slump in the standard love—that is the product of parties.

Why Guess About It— When You Can Know About It?

Suppose a guide said—

"This way there's a safe and pleasant road to your destination, with no risks or troubles on the way," and—

"That way there's a road that a good many have stalled on and turned back from, but you may get through."

Which would you take?

Postum is a thoroughly agreeable and satisfying meal-time drink, and you're sure that it's perfectly safe for health. Coffee contains drug qualities which disturb and harm the health of many.

Postum or coffee? Which road?

Why guess when you can know?

—murmured the Beauty Expert.

"Dark blue eyes; real 'devising' one of those French generals said."

Here Claudia Crane took up lightly, "I told Miss Vaughan the other little romance about our Georgia. You know! At the cinema!"

And here the voice of my twin-brother burst out with:

"What? So she is, then? She is 'Cousin America'?"

The tall Englishwoman's understanding "Ah!" chimed in with the quick query of the Reviewer Girl:

"Say are you 'British Officer'?"

"Er—yes, I am," from Jim. "I'm the man who wrote."

Four faces were at once alight with the swiftest, most utter sympathy in his affair.

"Cousin America? That was yours?" from the red-haired Beauty Expert.

"Well, if that isn't the most cunning, the most romantic ever!"

"Anita, why do we say that English people have no sentiment?" pursued the Reviewer Girl quickly.

"These are not the—unmitigated English, I guess," declared the Decoratress, turning southern eyes on the Vaughan twins. "Didn't Miss Crane tell me that all the Celts?"

But Claudia Crane had her face in her hands. Quite tragically she was murmuring, "Fool! Fool! that I was not to guess that this was the very lad!" Jim addressed himself to the table.

"What I want to know is how soon I can see her. This Miss Tarbell? You see, I've got to explain about that mascot touch. Only way was—well, what I did. It traced her all right. But if she—"

Here he turned his most disarming smile upon this Table Round.

"Frightfully rude of me, but I'm going to ask if I can move up, like the Mad Hatters' Tea-party. I want to sit next Miss Crane for a minute and ask her something. D'you fearfully mind?"

Immediately the Beauty Expert changed her seat for my brother's, putting him next to the English friend. He sat turned to Claudia Crane, the very back of his head expressing the eagerness of the low-voiced questions he was putting to her. There was a stir in the restaurant through at our end of the place. A trio of people, laughing, made their way up thru the press. Three more girls were introduced. Not the Girl!

"Say, girls, listen—"

"Margaret, wasn't you there with Georgia that time at the movies when she caught that message about 'Cousin America'?"

"Why, sure."

"Well, that young British officer who sent that message to be put on the screen—that one Georgia saw in London—that one who gave her that dandy little green Chinese charm—'why, there he is. Yes, Captain Vaughan here. Can you beat it? He's come way over to the States to look for her, and he's the One!'"

"For goodness' sake . . .," gasped three, fresh voices.

"Tell us," I begged for him, "where she is—the girl we want to see. She's here in Chicago, isn't she?"

"Why, yes she was, Miss Vaughan—Martha and the girls were just telling her Good-bye at the Depot. She's only just gone!"

Jim, curt, tense, demanded, "Where's she gone to?"

"She's gone to New York."

"New York?" in a tone of concentrated exasperation from Jim.

"New York, where we've only just come from."

"Oh, she's not gone to stop in New York, Captain Vaughan," explained Margaret. "She'll only be at the club for a night, before she goes on—What is the name of the place, Martha? You had her address, hadn't you? It's her camp, same as before the war."

"Camp? What for? Can't be war work any more—"

"Oh, no, this is Summer Camp, Captain Vaughan," Martha informed him. "She was one of their counselors. And they were crazy to have her go back there as soon as she came home, but the season will be over soon. I thought Georgia would be going to give it a miss until next summer, but last evening she said she believed she couldn't bear to think of the Fall coming on without her having visited her old shack."

"Seeing our blank looks, our countrywoman came to our rescue. 'Holiday Camp, you know. They have them all over the States now.'"

"What I want to know is whether there's a pub or a village, or something handy for the camp, where my sister and I could put up," said my bewildered twin.

"Oh again," I murmured. "Right O."

"There is some sort of an inn for visitors there."

Jim took up with a grateful look for the Reviewer Girl's information. "Good! Where is it? White Mountains? Where's that? Can we by any chance be there tonight?"

(The Comrade Camps, New England).

Upon Mrs. Jones, that aproned grey-haired lady who kept the village store and postoffice, Jim turned his smile and his inquiry about "Camp."

The door of the postoffice jingled open as he spoke.

Enter, with a burst of laughter and chatter, three girls, picturesque garbed in brown and scarlet.

"The folks," explained Mrs. Jones of the postoffice, with a nod toward us, "was asking about your Camp."

The tallest of the Rosalind-clad girls inquired, "Have you some friends here?"

"Yes," said my brother promptly. "That is, we hope to have. We'd like to have a look round the whole place."

We were personally conducted down the country road.

"This is the Hill Camp," said one of the girls.

It was a field of dwelling-places. Odd, delightful, buildings of light wood, raised from the ground and open at one side.

A joyous exclamation from one of the girls. "Why, there's Madama! This is the lady at the head of these Camps; come on and meet her."

There advanced, out of one of the shacks, smiling, a lady in Camp uniform.

Greetings. And then Jim's eager query, "I say, do you know—er—Miss Georgia Tarbell?"

"Certainly," returned the lady brightly. "But you won't find her here. This is our Hill Camp, you see. It's for the children. Georgia Tarbell is one of our counselors at the Lake Camp—where we have older girls. I'll send a girl with you across the short cut."

The girl who piloted us over the short cut was also a "counselor": a pleasant little brown-eyed creature who described herself as a "Hen-Medick"—which meant medical student.

"And two of the boys who are studying medicine in the home-town are the swimming instructors over at this Camp," she chatted on.

"Here's the Lake . . . We'll maybe save some minutes by taking the ferry. I'll paddle you across."

At the end of the path that we'd taken there was drawn up a red-painted canoe; and this the American girl hauled natively and easily.

"Now here we are. That's one of the instructors coming up now . . . Oh, Bill! O Billoroke!"

A young man—a powerfully built fellow—ran lightly down the rocky footpath.

"Hello, Connie," he halted our guide.

"Cokerbill," she began. "It is Bill this time, isn't it?"

"Sure, Coke's gone off on this bike."

"Say, Bill, here are two friends of Georgia Tarbell's, from England. Miss Vaughan and Captain Vaughan."

"Pleased to meet you, ma'am," said the smiling Hercules. He put out a fist that frightened me. "Captain Vaughan, I am pleased to meet you."

The little Hen-Medick cut in, "Say Bill, do you know where I'll find Georgia for these folks?"

"Georgia Tarbell. Why, yes, she's gone too."

"Gone?"

SHORT SHAVINGS

Ray Greer, records the postulations of a coal wagon driver who found in a load of coal the skeleton of a physician on the west side.

The physician had a specimen sack torn in the basement. His wife came out to tell him the driver said, "That's just the skeleton of the coal wagon driver who brought us short weight."

Frank Colucci says a hell hop at the Arizona road in his home town paper that he had died. He went to the long distance telephone to call his sister and assume her that the report was incorrect. "Have you seen in the paper," he asked her "that I died?" "Yes," she answered "But where are you telephoning from, John?"

Perry Anderson, attorney, Citizens' building riding in the back seat of a friend's automobile, touched him on the shoulder and said, "There's a hole in the top."

"Oh, I see," said his friend. "Yes, there is," said Anderson. "I put my head there when we went over that last bump in Main st."

Years ago, Mont Wingate, present common pleas court, built a mansion at Boulevard. A prisoner was brought before him. "If I do you plaid to the chair?" Wingate inquired.

"Not, milt," replied the prisoner. "Yes, you are guilty," because I saw you with my own eyes," ejaculated the mayor. "Five and no ts."

"The prisoner turned and had to be carried from the mayor's office."
